PRAISE FOR PIA

“Not all speakers are created equal. And Pia Larson, of Fingerprint Marketing, is head and shoulders above other website experts that I’ve heard speak. A tech nerd who can make technology exciting, she engages without being in your face, shows her expertise without being condescending to the audience, and delivers just the kind of information you need to make the investment of your time worthwhile.”

— LAURA BRODNIK, REALTOR, WINDERMERE

“I loved Pia’s talk, she had enthusiasm and authority and I learned a ton about people’s online habits, how important my brand is and how intricate the online world has become. The way that people seek out information is changing and there are so many different platforms. She really knew her stuff and made it easy for someone like me, who doesn’t know much about marketing, branding and site building, easy to understand.”
